Want to participate with your venture?

You have a company that is interested in exploring new markets?

You act local, but your solution should go global?

At the GoGlobal.Green Conference, we invite regions from all over the world to show you what makes them tick, what makes them special, and how they support new ventures in entering their market.

We strive to make this a value adding event for all sides and therefore will admit handpicked ventures – free of charge!

Please fill in our form and get exposure in our conference!
